Selected for the Times. I NEVER CAN FORGET THEE.

DEDICATED TO . . .

Forget theel ah my heart how vain Thus wildly to have spoken, The brightest link in memory's chain May not be rudely broken. The spell of thy dark lustrous eye Is on my spirit yet, Thy voice of deep-toned melody I never can forget.

And as some sweet forsaken lute My heart is hushed and still. Its silver chords are ever mute Save when for thee they thrill; Then softly as a syren's song Where troubled billows roll, Glad thoughts of love are swept along The ocean of my soul.

And ah! however dark and wiid My wayward heart may be, 'Tis bright as it an angel smiled Whene'er I think of thee; Often in visions fair it seems We meet, no more to sever, And, chain'd by such enchanting dreams I fain would sleep forever.

One single look of love from thee To my fond heart is worth More than a whole eternity Of homage from the earth. I've sought the brightest star of even To name and love for thee, And though a million gem the heaven, It beams alone for me.

Upon me ever seems to shine Its pure and steady ray As 'twere thy spirit meeting mine, When thou art far away. There is a blossom of the heart Which absence cannot blight, Though, one by one, the beams depart That nursed it into light.

Oh yes! sweet memory's rose will shed Its delicate perfume When each glad ray of hope has fled That lit its early bloom; The star I love shall beam for me. The rose shall blossom yet, For I cannot cease to love thee And never will forget.

A PARAGRAPH ON HAND-SOME WOMEN.

From the "Puritan Recorder."

'As a jewel of gold in a swine's shout, so fair woman without discretion." Prov. xi, 22.

So when a woman is "fair"—has a pretty face, a fascinating exterior, but is without a fascinating exterior, but is without the senseless without the state of the senseless are a fascinating exterior, but is without the senseless that the senseless are a fascinating exterior, but is without the senseless and fancy silks. So if a handsome woman is likewise "discreet"-if a charming face is asssociated with a well balanced mind, an ! attractive manners; it is a jewel so located as to be really ornamental and useful.

And now, fair readers, if you are blessed with personal beauty be thankful-not elated; and improve this gift of God, as every other, to His glory in your own augmented usefulness. Remember that being a "fair woman," thought it may prove a blessing, may and often does prove a fearful curse; while to be "without discretion," is a defliciency for which nothing can atone. Remember, moreover, that there is a moral beauty-not innate, but imparted by the Holy Spirit—which is worth in-  $\Lambda$ finitely more than personal comeliness; for it is only "the pure in heart,"—the spiritually beautiful, who shall "see God." "Beauty is vain; but woman that feareth the Lord she shall be praised."

Has this article caught the eye of any young man, casting about him in search of "an helpmeet for him," in his pilgrimage through life? and is some pretty face laying siege even sale by scribers in the world to newspapers, magazines, &c. We have been an editor now going on eight years, and we have not yet lost a single dollar by female subscribers. They seem to make it a point of conscientious duty to pay the preacher and the printer—two classes of the community that suffer more by bad pay (and no pay at all) than all the rest put together. Whenever we have a woman's name on the book we know it is just as good for two dollars and a half as a picayune is for a ginger cake. Besides, whatever editor now going on eight years, they subscribe for they read, whether it be good, bade or indifferent .-If they once subscribe for a paper they are sure to read it-upon the principle, we suppose, that if they did not, their money would be thrown away—as an old lady we thrown away—as an old lady we once knew, for whose sick servant girl the doctor had prescribed a dose of oil, but as the girl would not take the oil, she took it herself rather than let it be wasted. Hence, we say, they are the best readers. For these reasons, we had, any time in the world, rather have half a dozen women on our books than one man.

PROSPECTUS OF THE

der H. Stephens."

An engraved portrait of some distinguished person will be found in every number of the Review. These will usually be portraits of living American Statesmen, and whenever that is possible, will be secompanied with an authentic Memoir of the person of secompanies with a series are of course political;

The objects of the Review are of course political;
it is designed to set forth and defend the principles, and the men of the UNITED WHIG it is designed to set forth and defend the principles, the measures and the mea of the UNITED WHIG PARTY of the Union. It has been a matter of just reproach to that Party, that though it embraces its due proportion of the intelligence and learning of the country, it has had no Quarterly or Monthly Organ devoted to the expression and defense of its opinions and measures. The conductors of the American Review have done what in them lies to remove this represels, by securing contributions from sources of ability and truth. The literary department of the Review will agree in spirit with the political.
